

I Am Going To Shut Up For A Change!

It seems that every month I spout off at you guys like an evangelical minister.

I think we all could use a break from that.

I decided the best way to give you a break was to let some people who have BOY plans do the talking and add in a famous author as the icing on the cake.

The following quotes in blue are taken from Pamela Yellen's monthly newsletter that I just received in my email yesterday. I think they will help you get a better idea of how you can benefit from BOY.

Here's what Harv Eker, #1 New York Times best-selling author of "The Millionaire Mind," said:

"If you're looking for more of the same conventional financial advice, this isn't the book for you. But if you're prepared to take back control of your financial life once and for all, Bank on Yourself is a ground-breaking method that can put you on the fast track to reaching your goals and dreams."

As Harv noted, Bank On Yourself really isn't the same old financial advice people have been getting everywhere else. And that's a good thing, don't you think?

The more time goes on the more apparent it is to me that doing things the way we were told to do them before the market crash is a prescription for disaster in the new economic reality we all now face.

And Bill Liebler, one of the many people who shared their Bank On Yourself stories in my book. Here's what Bill wrote me last week...

"As we've watched our IRA, 401(k), and stock portfolio dwindle, we are relieved we have a chunk of our net worth in our Bank On Yourself plan. It creates a place where our money is safe, the value didn't drop, and in fact, has continued to increase every year. We really have been able to achieve peace of mind with this approach, and I strongly encourage everyone to look into it."

Is your situation like Bill's?

All of you who have BOY plans in operation are creating more and more financial security for yourself every time you pay a premium.

Rose Hillbrand, who you'll meet in Chapter 8 of my book:

"I have friends who say, 'Oh, the market goes up, it goes down.' I'm like, 'No, my Bank On Yourself plan just goes up.' I love having that security and having savings that are safe and that I can get to and use if I need to. In five years, I've used my Bank On Yourself plans to become debt-free and to pay cash for a car for the first time. It was wonderful and I love my car! Plus, I already have enough in the plan to pay for a vacation to Croatia this summer.

How many people today have such a positive mindset? Rose doesn't have to worry about whether she can afford to take a vacation or if her nest egg will grow. Can you imagine what a nice feeling that must be?

Wilder family "stayed sane" during the market crash:

"We have had Bank On Yourself plans for about three and a half years. They were what kept us sane during the stock market crash of 2008. Everything that was not in Bank On Yourself plans lost 32%, but all of our Bank On Yourself plans grew. Our goal with it is to be free of all interest payments to lenders and to secure a retirement income stream we can count on. We have used the plans to purchase a new car and pay off our mortgage. It's a pleasure to know our car cannot be repossessed and our home cannot be foreclosed on."

The Wilder's are part of our group. I have had the good fortune to work with them from the start on building their BOY system of plans.

Isn't it nice to know that your car can never be repossessed and your home cannot be foreclosed on?

This did not happen overnight, however. They had to work to make it happen. If you are willing to work and be a little patient, you too could be in their position.

Nothing is going to change unless you start doing things differently. It would be my pleasure to coach you through the process and watch you become more financially secure every month.
